🤲 Unit 3: Lend a hand.

Vocabulary

- Favors → Favores 🤝
- Formal and informal requests → Solicitudes formales e informales 📩
- Messages → Mensajes 💬

Speaking

- Making direct and indirect requests → Hacer solicitudes directas e indirectas
- Accepting and declining requests → Aceptar y rechazar solicitudes

Grammar

- Requests with modals, if clauses, and gerunds → Solicitudes con modales, cláusulas con if y gerundios
- Indirect requests → Solicitudes indirectas

Making Requests (Modals, If clauses, and Gerunds)

- Purpose: To ask for a favor or for permission. The structure you choose depends on the level of formality (from casual with friends to very polite with strangers or for big favors).
- With Modals (Can / Could): Used for direct and common requests. "Could" is slightly more formal than "Can".
  Ex: Can I borrow your truck, please?
  (¿Puedo tomar prestada tu camioneta, por favor?)
- With "If" clauses (Present): Used to ask for permission in standard, everyday situations.
  Ex: Is it OK if I use your credit card? / Do you mind if I use your credit card?
  (¿Está bien si uso tu tarjeta? / ¿Te importa si uso tu tarjeta?)
- With "If" clauses (Past / Hypothetical): Used for more formal or hesitant requests. Note: The verb after "I" goes in the past tense (used, borrowed), but the meaning is in the present/future.
  Ex: Would it be all right if I used your credit card?
  (¿Estaría bien si usara tu tarjeta de crédito?)
- With Gerunds (Verb + -ing): Used specifically after "Would you mind..." to ask someone else to perform an action.
  Ex: Would you mind helping me on Sunday?
  (¿Te importaría ayudarme el domingo?)
- Indirect Requests: The most formal and polite way to ask for a big favor without sounding demanding.
  Ex: I was wondering if you could help me move.
  (Me preguntaba si podrías ayudarme a mudarme.)

Requests with modals, if clauses, and gerunds

Formality	Requests
Less formal 	Can I borrow your truck, please?
	Could you lend me your truck, please?
	Is it OK if I use your credit card?

Formality	Requests
More formal	Do you mind if I use your credit card?
	Would it be all right if I used your credit card?
	Would you mind if I borrowed your truck?
	Would you mind helping me on Sunday?
	I was wondering if you could help me move.

Messages

- Purpose: To ask someone to pass a message, ask a question, or give a command to a third person.
- Statements (introduced by "that"): Used when the original message is a simple fact or statement. The word "that" is optional.
  Direct: Mary, you left your phone in my car.
  Indirect: Could you tell Mary (that) she left her phone in my car?
  (¿Podrías decirle a Mary que dejó su teléfono en mi carro?)
- Imperatives (using infinitives): Used when the original message is a command or instruction. Use "to + verb" for affirmative commands or "not to + verb" for negative commands.
  Direct: Mary, don't forget the students' reports.
  Indirect: Can you tell Mary not to forget the students' reports?
  (¿Puedes decirle a Mary que no olvide los reportes de los estudiantes?)
- Yes/No questions (introduced by "if" or "whether"): Used when the original question can be answered with yes or no.
  Direct: Mary, are you coming to the meeting?
  Indirect: Could you ask her whether or not she is coming to the meeting?
  (¿Podrías preguntarle si viene a la reunión o no?)

- Wh-questions (introduced by a question word): Used when the original question asks for specific information (where, what, what time, etc.). Important rule: After the question word, the sentence structure changes back to a normal statement (Subject + Verb), not a question.
  Direct: Mary, where are you having lunch?
  Indirect: Can you ask Mary where she's having lunch?
  (¿Puedes preguntarle a Mary dónde va a almorzar?)

Indirect Requests

Direct Requests	Indirect Requests
Statements Mary, you left your phone in my car.	Indirect requests introduced by that Could you tell Mary (that) she left her phone in my car?
Imperatives Mary, don't forget the students' reports.	Indirect requests using infinitives Can you tell Mary not to forget the students' reports?

❓ Unit 4: What happened?

Vocabulary

- The media → Los medios de comunicación 📰
- News stories → Noticias 🗞️
- Exceptional events → Eventos excepcionales ⭐

Speaking

- Narrating a story → Narrar una historia
- Describing events and experiences in the past → Describir eventos y experiencias en el pasado

Grammar

- Past continuous vs. simple past → Pasado continuo vs. pasado simple
- Past perfect → Pasado perfecto

Interrupting Actions in the Past

- Purpose: To talk about an ongoing, longer action in the past that was interrupted by another, shorter event.

- Past Continuous (The ongoing action): Describes the longer "background" action that was already happening. We often use words like while or as to introduce it.
  Structure: Subject + was/were + verb(-ing).
- Simple Past (The interrupting action): Describes the shorter, sudden event that happens in the middle of the ongoing action. We often use the word when to introduce it.
  Structure: Subject + verb in past (regular -ed or irregular).

Past Continuous vs. Simple Past

Use the past continuous for an ongoing action in the past. Use the simple past for an event that interrupts that action.
Past Continuous	Simple Past
While I was working out,	it calculated how many calories I burned.
As scientists were doing research,	they discovered that women need more sleep than men.
A man was looking for his cat	when he found a suspicious package inside a trash can.

Past Perfect

- Purpose: To describe an event or action that occurred before another event in the past. It helps to clarify which action happened first.
  (Para describir un evento o acción que ocurrió antes que otro evento en el pasado. Ayuda a aclarar qué acción sucedió primero.)
- The First Action (Past Perfect): Describes the event that happened earliest in time.
  Structure: Subject + had + past participle (verbo en participio).
  (Describe el evento que ocurrió primero en el tiempo.)
- The Second Action (Past Event): Describes the event that happened later. This second action is usually expressed in the Simple Past or Past Continuous.

(Describe el evento que ocurrió después. Esta segunda acción generalmente se expresa en Pasado Simple o Pasado Continuo.)

Past Perfect

Use the past perfect for an event that occurred before another event in the past.
Past Event	Past Perfect Event
I was having lunch with a friend,	and I had parked my bike on the street.
When I highlight,	someone had stolen it.
They were able to steal it	because I had forgotten to lock it up.
